

An illustration for the month of January. At the top, there is a string of colorful triangular bunting flags in shades of gold, grey, and pink. Below the flags, two bursts of fireworks are shown: one in blue and yellow, and another in gold. In the center, the word "January" is written in a large, black, sans-serif font inside a white rounded rectangle. At the bottom, three children are celebrating. On the left, a boy with orange hair in a purple shirt and brown shorts is blowing a blue and white striped horn. In the middle, a girl with red hair in a yellow dress is smiling with her arms raised. On the right, a girl with dark skin and braided hair in a pink dress is blowing a pink and white striped horn. Confetti and streamers are scattered around them. To the far left, a red and yellow striped firecracker is on a wooden stand.

An illustration for the month of February. At the top, there is a string of four heart-shaped bunting flags with different patterns: stripes, polka dots, and swirls, all in shades of pink. In the center, the word "February" is written in a large, black, sans-serif font inside a white rounded rectangle. At the bottom, a yellow teddy bear is sitting and holding a large red heart. To the left of the bear is a yellow envelope with a green heart on it.
